4. (Confidential - GLC) In the absence of Charles Campbell, Legislative Assistant on the staff of Senator Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), I talked with Jane McMullan, Secretary to Senator Russell, in response to Campbell's query on Friday. I advised Miss McMullan that we had devoted much effort to the question raised by Mr. Campbell, i.e., whether the North Koreans measure their territory by base line or contour. I told her we were not aware of any North Korean policy statement in this regard but added that the North Koreans have used the base line theory at times in the past when it was to their advantage to do so. Miss McMullan said she would pass this on to Mr. Campbell and he would let me know if he desires anything further.

(Secret - GLC) Met with Bill Woodruff, of the Senate Appropriations Committee staff, and he brought up several items: (a) He continues to receive questions about the withdrawals from Agency reserves and asked if we can provide him with more detailed information on expenditures on [] I will be in touch with [] on this. (b) He asked if we would check with the Director to determine when the Director felt he could best brief the Committee. Woodruff proposes to suggest to Chairman Russell that the first Agency briefing be a world-wide intelligence briefing of the full Appropriations Committee. This would be similar to the one given the Committee last February. (c) He said he planned to suggest to Senator Russell that he be receptive to a courtesy call from Admiral Taylor. At this time Admiral Taylor could brief the Senator on the Agency's involvement in the Pueblo. He is particularly anxious to have Admiral Taylor cover the Agency's role in the discussions in the 303 Committee. I told Woodruff that I would like to sound out Admiral Taylor on this in advance and he agreed.
